In addition to #4260, it would be interesting to have some additional commands such as dataset-check to check if an entry exists in a set or dataset-clear that will allow users to remove all elements from a set.